Grading policy.
- Homework: 20%
- Three in-class exams: 20% each
- Final exam: 20%

Regarding missed exams:
- If you miss an in-class exam, your final exam score will be used in its place.
The situation of two or more missed in-class exams or a missed final exam will be handled on a case-by-case basis; make-up exams may be given in the event of an absence due to valid and verifiable reasons (e.g. illness, family emergency).

A final overall score of

90% guarantees you an A,
80% guarantees you at least a B,
70% guarantees you at least a C,
60% guarantees you at least a D.

Course outline.
- We will cover material from Chapters 1–7 of the textbook.
- Exam 1 will primarily cover Chapters 1–3.
- Exam 2 will primarily cover Chapters 4–5.
- Exam 3 will primarily cover Chapters 6–7.
Homework. Homework will be primarily completed online through MyMathLab; as such, access to MyMathLab is required. Some written homework may also be assigned.

Calculator/software use. Calculators and other mathematical software may not be used during exams. Prepare accordingly.

Accessibility and accommodations. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on disability, please contact Disability Support Services (dss.mst.edu). If accommodations involve the Testing Center (testcenter.mst.edu), it is your responsibility to make arrangements with the center in consultation with me.

Academic integrity. Students should adhere to the Student Academic Regulations handbook, especially Section 200.010 concerning the Standard of Conduct therein. Please familiarize yourself with these (registrar.mst.edu/academicregs).

Title IX. US Federal Law Title IX states that no member of the university community shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, or be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity. To learn more about Title IX resources and reporting options (confidential and non-confidential) available to Missouri S&T students, visit titleix.mst.edu.

Classroom egress maps. Please familiarize yourself with the classroom egress maps posted at designconstruction.mst.edu/floorplan.
