

Student Honor Code and Academic Integrity: Page 30 of the Student Academic Regulations handbook <http://registrar.mst.edu/academicregs> describes the student standard of conduct and offers descriptions of academic dishonesty including cheating, plagiarism, and sabotage.

Disability Support Services: If you have a documented disability, you may be eligible for reasonable accommodations in compliance with university policy, the American with Disabilities Act of 1990, the ADA of 2008, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. To request accommodations or assistance, please self-identify with Disability Support Services (DSS) in 203 Norwood Hall. For more information or to register for services, contact DSS at (573)341-6655 or dss@mst.edu. If you need to take your exams in the Testing Center, you have to submit your accommodation letter to me by Thursday, February 1.

Title IX: Missouri University of Science and Technology is committed to the safety and well-being of all members of its community. US Federal Law Title IX states that no member of the university community shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, or be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity. Furthermore, in accordance with Title IX guidelines from the US Office of Civil Rights, Missouri S&T requires that all faculty and staff members report, to the Missouri S&T Title IX Coordinator, any notice of sexual harassment, abuse, and/or violence (including personal relational abuse, relational/domestic violence, and stalking) disclosed through communication including but not limited to direct conversation, e-mail, social media, classroom papers, and homework exercises. Missouri S&T's Title IX Coordinator is Mr. Neil Outar. Contact him directly (naoutar@mst.edu; (573)341-6038; 605 West 11th Street) to report Title IX violations. To learn more about Title IX resources and reporting options (confidential and nonconfidential) available to Missouri S&T students, staff, and faculty, please visit <http://titleix.mst.edu>.
